Uround-up

YOUR MONTHLY GUIDE TO EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW!

Masterclass

Make-up is big business these days, and it's fair to say that most women have a bit of a grá for lipglosses and mascaras. So it's not all that surprising that there's a huge interest in make-up courses. Good news then for make-up lovin' U birds: Studio Four, the first designated make-up studio in Galway, has opened its doors. Owned and run by Patricia Wynne and Joan Delaney, Studio Four provides custom-designed, two-day weekend courses called Be Your Own Make-up Artist. The courses are designed to teach clients how to use and apply make-up, from the very basic techniques to more complicated professional skills. Yes, there is no need to fear highlighter or blusher in the future ladies! And you'll be in safe hands too. Joan and Patricia met while working for Lancôme in Galway's Brown Thomas store and have extensive experience in the world of make-up.

The Studio Four approach is based on four main principles: Preparation, Foundation, Demonstration and Education. As well as the two-day courses, Studio Four also provide makeovers, Gatineau facials and products, St. Tropez Ultimate Air System Tanning, Creative Nail treatments, as well as waxing, tinting, eyelash perming etc. It's a beauty buff's dream come true! Studio Four, Drum East (beside Salthill Devon FC), Galway, tel: 091/NI 0035391 585 552.
